Drive more comfortably with Bridgestone

When driving, you might encounter lots of problems such as heavy, vibrating strangely, off-center steering wheel, inefficient fuel consumption, unevenly worn or shaking tires which are called misaligned wheel in specialized terminology. These signals indicate the time for tire check and adjustment.

There are many reasons causing the variance of tire angles. One of them is related to driving habits as driving through potholes and obstacles at high speed, or driving or parking on uneven pavement frequently. In addition, unregular maintenance is also one of the reason.

Misaligned wheel does not usually lead to serious consequence immediately, which makes drivers subjective. However, in long journeys, it creates driver's tiredness due to excessive effort to control steering wheel. Under night driving conditions or on the highway, unstable steering system results in danger or even crash. Moreover, this is also the cause of irregular tread wear, higher fuel consumption.

To solve these problems, the vehicle needs to be accurately checked and repaired by modern equipment like wheel alignment and balancing machines. With industry expertise and a high-tech focusing on customer care, Bridgestone has fitted up the most advanced machines in all nationwide B-select and B-shop Tire Service Center network, ensuring consistent and standard process.

On the users side, vehicle manufacturers recommend owner to actively have tires checked and aligned every 10,000 km to timely detect and adjust the deviation. This will help prevent the vehicle performing differently from manufacturer's optimized design.
